Comments:

I used resources from a version of this e-textbook for years as an economics teacher in outside of TUSD and found it helpful to prepare students college level economics courses and meet the state standards.

Mr. Reff use to teach at Pueblo High school. His program developed to teach students economics in a way they could understand it. This program would be excellent for the students and Mr. Reff could perhaps be invited to speak on the more difficult topics at the school.

I have used these materials for years when I was an Economics teacher, and it was called, "Reffonomics."

The materials are straightforward, follow the Economics standards, and provide opportunities for students to reinforce and demonstrate their understanding of the material.

I can not recommend this material enough!
